

Journal of the Southwest, founded in 1959 as Arizona and the West, began publishing in its current format in 1987. A refereed journal published quarterly by the Southwest Center at the University of Arizona, Journal of the Southwest invites scholarly articles, essays, and reviews informing any aspect of the Greater Southwest (including northern Mexico). Dedicated to an integrated regional study, the journal publishes broadly across disciplines, including: intellectual and social history, anthropology, architecture, literary studies, folklore, historiography, politics, Borderlands studies, and regional natural history. Submissions (typed, double-spaced, in duplicate, and on CD) and inquiries should be made to Joseph C. Wilder, Editor, PO Box 210185, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona 85721. Telephone (520) 621-2484.

Journal of the Southwest is indexed in America: History and Life, Arts and Humanities Citation Index, Current Contents, Historical Abstracts, Anthropological Index Online, and MLA International Bibliography. Electronic issues of Journal of the Southwest are available online from Academic OneFile (1995–), General OneFile (1995–), Wilson OmniFile (1998–), and JSTOR (1959–), and Project MUSE.

Journal of the Southwest assumes no responsibility for statements or opinions of contributors.
